There are always two sides to every story!

A friend compiled the following articles in response to the fawning tributes printed in the press following the recent tragic death of three family members. I felt that I had to share them with you for they give an insight into the true nature of that, which one who loves holiness and truth must face every day in our land!

We are unwilling to meekly and silently accept the attempt to picture one of the victims of the recent traffic accident as a 'lovely, caring' individual, given his history of terrorist involvement and must protest at this whitewashing of one who in life was an IRA terrorist, one who took part in the 1970s filthy 'blanket protest'. He was far from what many would have us believe of him, as they eulogise him in death!

There is a community that is perfectly ready to eulogise those who engaged in the most horrendously wicked and cruel acts against their neighbours. Here is the reason for the division and conflict in Northern Ireland. There is a section of the population who believe that it is perfectly proper and in complete harmony with their religious aspirations, to murder, bomb and terrorise those who hold political views different from theirs and that in order to force them to capitulate and surrender their views and yield to their republican demands.

Michelle, the leader of Sinn Fein in Stormont, said of the notorious IRA terrorist, Bobby Storey, when he recently died, that he was: "one of the most amazing people I have ever had the pleasure to call my friend and comrade. To know him was to love him."

One person's 'lovable, amazing' person is another's terrorist thug and murderer!

We truly are living in those days spoken of by Isaiah the prophet, chapter 5, verse 20. "Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!"

Is not the spirit of those who engage in terrorism and praise and support its participants, akin to that spirit spoken of by Christ when He warned his disciples of the malicious opposition they would encounter in this world.

"These things have I spoken unto you, that ye should not be offended. They shall put you out of the synagogues: yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service. And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me," John 16:1-3. From these words of the saviour we can see that such a spirit of which He warned was 'Antichristian' and sprang from the fact that "they have not known the Father, nor me".

That is the source of conflict in our land irrespective of its 'colour'!

There is a solemn word from the Lord that all should tremble before. "For they have sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind," Hosea 8:7.
